HISTORY.

THE BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL was opened in 1923 as a secondary school, on the basis of beginnings already made in Aleppo.

During the first two years, it was necessary to include pupils of lower classes, till community schools became well organized and could care for the six elementary grades.

In 1925-26, classes were divided into sections of about twenty students each, standards in all languages were raised one year, and the College Press was established.

In 1926-27, a second building was rented, the freshman class was added, the Junior High School was organized as a separate school, and a Hostel was opened.

In 1927-28, the sophomore class was added, a Carpentry Shop was started, and part of a third building was rented for the Hostel, the whole of this building being rented in 1929-30.

In 1931-30, the Preparatory Classes were made a school by themselves, and housed on one floor of the Hostel building.

EQUIPMENT.

The Boys, High School occupies three rented buildings, built throughout of stone, in the Azizieh Quarter of Aleppo, on the edge of the city, and near the Quweik river and the Baghdad railway.

Offices, library and reading-room, laboratories, student committee room, and the assembly and class rooms of the College Classes are in the two-story central building.

The assembly and class rooms of the Preparatory Classes are on the second floor of the Hostel building.

The Junior High School uses the old British Consulate property, by the river. There are six class rooms, an assembly room, a teachers' room, and a large yard with athletic apparatus.

The dormitories and the social room of the Hostel are on the third floor of the Hostel building, and the dining-room, kitchen, and lockers are on the first.

A large athletic field is rented for football, tennis and field and track athletics. There are volleyball and handball courts, and baseball is played. The North Syria School For Boys kindly allows the use of its basketball floor.

In addition to laboratory equipment in chemistry, physics, zoology and botany, the school has a moving-picture machine with a stereopticon attachment, and a wireless receiving outfit.

The library has about four thousand books, and about forty periodicals in various languages are on file in the reading room.

An art collection has been begun.

The College Press, the Bindery, the Carpentry Shop and the Looms of the Self-Help Industries are located at the Junior High School and the Hostel building.

Most of the desks, benches, and cupboards and tables used by the school have been made by students in the Self-Help industries.

SCHOOL LIFE.

The school year consists of two semesters, each of approximately eighteen weeks. Work continues six days a week, with Wednesday and Saturday afternoons as half-holidays.

The course of study follows in general the requirements of the government program for secondary study, with an emphasis upon scientific subjects.

The purpose of the school is the development of personality. So the all-round growth of every student is a direct objective.

There is intimate relationship between students and instructors. Group activities occupy a prominent place in daily life. Each class has two required periods of athletic work a week, in addition to voluntary athletics and sports.

All students must acquire the languages of the Syrian environment in which they are preparing to live. Outside reading of books and current literature is encouraged. The outlook of the student and of the school is meant to be broad and practical.

There are many forms of student activity, and large scope is given to student initiative.

A silver "H" is awarded to every regular student who meets for one semester the three-fold requirement of 1) being satisfactory in conduct, 2) securing an average ranking of B in his studies, 3) fulfilling certain athletic tests. The purpose of this award is to establish a standard of all-round excellence and a standard higher than the simple passing grades.

Silver medals are awarded to students who set new records for the school in field and track athletics, and the class scoring the largest

Mention is made at the closing exercise of the student who ranks highest in each class.

A special prize is offered for notable service to the school. This prize has been granted thus far in 1929 only, when a prize was awarded to the Student Literary Committee for the establishment of the Student monthly paper, «The Reporter» and a prize to the Student Athletic Committee for the successful inauguration of the Aleppo Interscholastic Field Day.

The school desires to maintain a non-partisan atmosphere, free and religious, and to offer to every young man of ability and purpose the opportunity to secure secondary education.

SCHOLASTIC RELATIONSHIPS.

Mutual understandings regarding the acceptance of students exist between the Boys' High School and the following schools in Aleppo:

Mouballat Elementary School,
Bethel Protestant School,
Cilician School; also with the North Syria School for Boys; and understandings may be arrived at with other schools that so desire.

Students having competent knowledge of Arabic and French are eligible to the government examinations for the Syrian baccalaureat.

Students completing the Sophomore college class are eligible for reception to the professional courses of the University of Syria at Damascus.

Students completing the present sophomore class are received to the pre-professional classes at the American University of Beirut on the basis of their record in the Boys' High School, and without repetition of courses.

By the courtesy of the American University of Beirut, recommended students who have completed the Preparatory Classes at the Boys' High School, and who desire to continue their studies at the University, are received to the freshman class of the University without examination.

GENERAL STATEMENT

The weekly schedule of the College Classes consists of sixteen two-hour periods, some of which are sub-divided into one-hour periods; and four closing periods of forty-five minutes each. There are no vacant periods.

Two-hour periods are used for supervised study, under the guidance and supervision of the instructor. In addition, a degree of outside work may be required, depending on the subject. This method of "supervised study" may be distinguished from the lecture method on the one hand and from the recitation method on the other. It gives first importance to the processes of study and to the intellectual development of the student. One-hour periods are used for subjects taught according to the other methods.

The common languages are English and French, and these are the languages of instruction, but any of the languages taught in the school may be used in public exercises, as occasion demands.

Dr. A. A. Altounyan offers an annual prize of five gold pounds for the purchase of books, to be awarded to the student making best use of the library and reading-room, as shown by an examination on current events.

The Armenian Educational Foundation of New York has established five scholarships, of forty dollars each, for which students of the College classes are eligible.

The income of the Pashgian Fund is awarded to the student, entering the freshman class and in need of help, who has the highest rankings in general and in Armenian. This income may be divided.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES.

Student committees are chosen by the college and preparatory classes to have charge of student activities.

The Committee on Athletic Activities shares in or conducts all athletic affairs.

The Committee on Literary Activities, with co-opted student assistants, conducts the student monthly paper, "The Reporter". Each of the four languages taught in the school has a section devoted to student articles in English, French, Armenian or Arabic, as the case may be.

The Committee on Religious Activities arranges for the Thursday afternoon religious meetings.

A committee on Musical Activities is responsible for that aspect of the life of the school.

The Committee on Social Activities arranges social evenings, especially at the beginning of the year and during vacations, and prepares for the annual outing.

Student deputations have visited surrounding towns for week-ends, and have sought to stimulate athletic, educational and religious interest among young men, without regard to religious or racial affiliations.

In all these student activities, teachers co-operate as advisors.

ADMISSION.

The College Classes are open to all young men of good character and adequate scholastic preparation.

The freshman class is the equivalent in years of the Première Classe of the program of the Syrian government for Secondary Education.

Adequate proficiency in English, French and Arabic is required of all students. Armenian is required of students who use that language.

GENERAL STATEMENT

The Junior High School is planned to meet the needs of Armenian-speaking boys, who have completed the six elementary grades of the community schools.

The weekly schedule consists of twenty-four or twenty-five recitations a week, with additional regular periods for music, hand-writing, athletics and rhetoricals.

The language of instruction in other than language lessons is English, unless specified.

Students have their own arrangements for school discipline and for student activities.

A student failing in any subject must take it up by such re-study as the instructor may require and by re-examination before the subject is offered again. Otherwise the subject must be taken again in class, and interfering appointments must be dropped.

A passing mark in the second semester in a subject which continues through the year removes a failure in the first semester, unless the instructor gives notice to the contrary.

A student with any unremoved semester failures must remain in the same class.

Students completing successfully all the work of the required course of study are awarded the diploma of the Junior High School.

ADMISSION.

Pupils from elementary schools which have an understanding with the Junior High School are admitted without examination in all subjects for which they are recommended. Other applicants are admitted on examination.

Applicants for admission should have completed arithmetic through interest and the geography of all the continents, in the vernacular. They should have made the required advancement in Armenian, Arabic, French and English. They should have completed their twelfth year of age.

A pupil who does not pass in any two of the above six subjects for entrance cannot be received to the school.

Students who do not speak Armenian may be admitted upon request, to take all the courses except those in Armenian, as regular students.

HOSTEL.

Students desiring to live in the Hostel should apply to the office in advance in writing to secure a place for the coming year.

A deposit of LSyrian 5.00 should accompany the application.

Each boarding student must present the name of a responsible representative in Aleppo, to whom reference may be made by the school regarding payment of charges, questions of discipline, or other matters, as occasion may arise.

Each boarding student should bring with him an upper mattress, a quilt, three sheets, a pillow, two pillow-cases, towels and other toilet articles. The Hostel furnishes a bedstead with lower mattress, and provides washing conveniences.

The Hostel will not be open to receive students for the year 1931-32 until September 29, the first meal being served that evening.

In case of longer absence, settlement will be made on the basis of a general charge of LSyrian 10.00 and a weekly charge of LSyrian 3.00 for each week or fraction of a week of residence in the Hostel.

The school reserves the right to require an extra payment, in proportion to the total expenditure for the year, if the charge of LSyrian 125.00 per student is not sufficient to cover the expenses of the Hostel.
