GOVERNMENT MONOPOLIES FOR PETROLEUM, BENZINE AND SUGAR IN TURKEY

We publish in full the text of the laws regulating the newly established monopolies in Turkey of petroleum and benzine and sugar. These laws are now in effect.

The Law Governing the Petroleum and Benzine Monopoly:

Art. 1.— The importation of petroleum and benzine to Turkey is under the Government monopoly, subject, however, to complete freedom of buying and selling in the country.

Art. 2.— Petroleum derivatives, such as Mazout, Bakura and the like which are used as motor power in machines, are not subject to the monopoly.

Art. 3.— The cost prices of products that are placed under the monopoly by virtue of Article 1, will be fixed by adding to their purchase price the customs duty and consumption tax in force, transportation and other expenses. The Government will add to the cost price a monopoly tax of 8 piasters per kilo and the products in question will be sold to salesmen from depots situated in given places.

Art. 4.— The producers of benzine and petroleum to be obtained from sources lying within the boundaries of Turkey will be left free in matters of sales after they have made payment of the monopoly duty.

Art. 5.— The Government will administer the petroleum and benzine monopoly through a management having the character of a Corporate Body. The business will be conducted by a Board of Directors consisting of a President and three members to be selected by the Ministry of Finance and approved by the Council of Ministers, as well as by an Executive Manager to be recommended by the Minister of Finance and approved by the Grand National Assembly. The Manager shall be a member of the Board of Directors. The duties of the Board of Directors as well as of the Manager are determined by a code of instructions to be drawn up by the Ministry of Finance and approved by the Council of Ministers.

Art. 6.— The Minister of Finance is authorised to administer the petroleum and benzine monopoly together with the sugar monopoly, through a management and a Board of Directors.

Art. 7.— The budget of the management of the petroleum and benzine monopoly shall be drawn up by the Board of Directors and after being approved by the Ministry of Finance shall be submitted to the sanction of the President of the Republic. The final annual balance-sheet of every year shall be submitted to the Grand National Assembly within six months from the end of the current fiscal year.

Art. 8.— The importation of petroleum and benzine to the country by agents other than the Government is prohibited from the date of the publication of this law. However, in case petroleum and benzine that can be documentarily proved to have been ordered for Turkey before the publication of this law, shall arrive in the country within two months, they will be bought by the Government at the first purchase prices of the Monopoly Administration. Persons are at liberty to re-export their goods, if they so desire.

Art. 9.— Holders of petroleum and benzine imported before the promulgation of this law are required to submit a declaration of the quantity of merchandise they hold and to sell it according to an average established price, or export it within a period of two months. In the event of the goods being re-exported, the customs duty and consumption tax of said goods are refunded at the piers whence they are re-exported. The average price in each place will be fixed by a commission of four members, the president of which will be the highest functionary of that locality, the others being a customs house official and two persons chosenfrom the members of the Chamber of Commerce or elected by the board of alderman. The price will be established and published according to the average price of the two preceding months.

Art. 10.— Petroleum and benzine which according to Art. 9 shall not have been sold or exported during the two months, will be subjected to the monopoly tax of 8 piasters per kilo.

Art. 11.— A fine of fifty liras per day will be imposed on wholesale dealers who do not submit a declaration of the goods held within the prescribed period. Retailers will pay a fine of ten liras.

Art. 2.— « Boulama », « locoum », all sweetmeats, « helva », sugared syrups, non-alcoholic beverages manufactured with sugar, candied fruits, chocolates and similar sugar substances will not be allowed to be introduced into the country except through the Administration of the monopoly. A YEAR'S PROGRESS AT ANGORA

If even twelve months ago there was some speculation as to whether Angora would continue to be the capital of the Turkish Republic, there is to-day no possible vestige of doubt that the national center of gravity has been definitely transferred from the shores of the Bosphorus to the uplands of Anatolia. The past year has seen remarkable progress at Angora in many directions. Contractors, both Turkish and foreign, who had hitherto come forward shyly, prepared only to embark upon minor enterprises, are launching out upon greater and ever greater schemes of construction. At every turn there are newly finished buildings or buildings still screened behind a mass of scaffolding; from all sides come the scrape of the trowel upon bricks and mortar, the sound of the pickaxe digging down into the stony soil, the thud of the hammer driving nails into wooden framework.

When in November 1924, the Prefect Haidar Bey, explained the programme he had drawn up for the coming year, one was perhaps tempted to wonder how much of his scheme would actually become an accomplished fact within the period determined. Such doubts have proved very largely ill-founded. "All by wheels — whir! whir!!; all by steam — whiz! whiz!!" explained the Turkish Pasha in «Eöthen» in admiration of English civilization. Haidar Bey has given evidence of a similar admiration — albeit largely for German wheels and steam and electricity — by concrete achievement. He has now completed the installation of a power station which is capable of furnishing electric light in all the main streets and to such private householders as may demand it. A tile factory turning out 30,000 tiles daily has been constructed, and savmills and other factories producing the raw materials needed in building are either in operation or well under way.

Machinery has been put into a large flour mill and a Viennese expert has been engaged to supervise the manufacture of the best bread in a large bakery. Solid paving has been set down in more of the main streets and avenues, some of the narrow streets have been widened, and in the place of old houses stand new buildings. Most important, perhaps, of all, the broad swampy fields which lie between the station and the town, and which formed the happy hunting ground of the mosquito, causing in consequence much of the malaria that was the plague of Angora, have now been drained. A broad road and paths have been cut across them and the whole expanse is about to be planted and turned into a public park.

Considerable progress has also been made in the new quarter of the town which is springing up on the road out to Chankaya. A modern system of drainage and of water supply is being constructed, and already over 120 houses have been virtually completed. Pending the completion of the various municipal factories, the materials for these first houses have had to be imported, and therefore their construction has cost rather more than was originally estimated — the Prefect calculates that he will have to ask from Ltqs. 7,000 to Ltqs. 10,000 for the smaller and from Ltqs. 12,000 to Ltqs. 20,000 for the larger of these villas—but from now onward, as the municipal factories come into operation, the cost to purchasers will sensibly diminish. At present the intention is to build a total of 300 such houses, in addition

Nor is the municipality alone in these activities. New Government buildings are being put up, such, for example, as those for the Courts of Justice and a new General Post Office. The construction of wooden houses is now illegal; and as, in addition, householders have been ordered to repair and keep their houses clean, the combination of the new stone structures with the fresh coats of whitewash which are being applied to the old buildings has made the town noticeably cleaner and more pleasant-looking than it was a year ago.

AMERICAN SESQUICENTENNIAL

The Sesquicentennial International Exposition, which will be held in Philadelphia, June 1st, to December 1st, 1926, to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the declaration of American Independance, will demonstrate in graphic manner the progress made in the United States during the past fifty years in education, art, science and industry, in trade and commerce, and in the development of the products of the air, the soil, the mines, the forest and the seas.

In addition, the story of American freedom, both the opening chapters of struggle and the later chapters of achievement, will be set forth in pageantry and parade as never before in the history of the United States. A great Stadium has been planned to provide the physical necessities for such a carnival of pageantry. The shrine of American Liberty at Independence Hall, together with the other notable landmarks of American history with which Philadelphia is blessed, will be tied into the scheme of celebration by suitable exercises.

The President of the United States has honored the occasion by accepting the invitation to be present and will be in Philadelphia to speak to the people of the nation on July 3rd and 4th, thus emphasizing the aspect of the Exposition as a great national patriotic celebration.

The Philadelphia Navy Yard, which adjoins the Exposition grounds, will constitute one of the most interesting and unique exhibits. Full co-operation has been promised and for six months the Navy Yard will virtually be a government exhibit of unique value in the Sesquicentennial aggregation.

It is desired that the people of all other nations contribute evidences of their own progress, to the end that better International understanding and more intimate commercial relationships be engendered, and that the coming of universal peace may be thus hastened. Many nations either officially through their governments, or unofficially through their citizens or industries, have declared their intention to be thus represented, among them France, England, Japan, Italy, Spain, Belgium, Holland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Poland, Czechoslo-vakia, Jugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, and Switzerland. There will also be participation by Asiatic and South American nations.

Metals and Machines in Bulgaria

Bulgaria has as yet no metal industries. It must import all the metals and machines of which it has need, railroad materials, agricultural implements, electrical apparatus, iron for construction purposes, pipes, automobiles, bicycles, etc.

The railroad lines are continually being extended. There are large projects for the exploitation of water power and some of this work is already being carried out, notably that undertaken by the Orion Company ('the Bouroff group) in the region of Rila, and that by the Vatcha Co-operative Company in the region of Philippopolis, which is backed by the Agricultural Bank of Bulgaria as are all the co-operative companies.

Farming implements are still to a large extent primitive; almost 62% of the plows are the old-fashioned wooden implements.

The automobile trade is in its infancy, and there are but 2,200 motor cars in the country. Imports have been as follows:

> 1923 103 machines; 1924 219 * 1925 (8 mos.), 324.

The bicycle is not yet popular.

With respect to iron and steel implements, electrical equipment, etc., the market draws largely from German and Czecho-Slovakian industries.

The automobile market is held by the Italian make (the Fiat) During the last two years several French firms have established agencies for the Citroen Delage, Berliet, Mathis and Peugeot in Sofia, and the success of the French make is increasing. German bicycles have obtained greater favor than any other make although during the past two years French machines have obtained a place.

Mineral Resources of Bulgaria

It is not necessary for Bulgaria to import coal at the present time. Its own resources — and especially the state mines at Pernik — produce sufficiently for its own needs and have allowed Bulgaria to deliver over to Yugo-Slavia the amount of coal required for reparations because of Serbian mines exploited during the Bulgarian occupation at the time of the Great War.

The following are the statistics for production in thousands of tons:

		2 -11	Other	Total
		Pernik	Mines	Production
192	2	898	128	1,021
192	3	914	149	1,063
192	4	1,025	249	1,274

For 1925 the figures were about the same, the total production being above 1,200,000 tons.

Copper.— In 1924 the mines of Bulgaria yielded 25,916 tons of copper. Almost the entire amount came from the mines exploited by the Société Minière et Industrielle de Plakalnitza, a French company.

Lead.— The production in 1924 amounted to 8,108 tons.

Manganese.— The production in 1924 was 300 tons from the Bela mines near Varna.

Gold.— The production in 1924 was I kilo, 520 grama coming from the private concessions of «Zlatno Rouno» (Golden Fleece) and «Nadejda» (Hope) near Tchekhlaré north east of Philippopolis. The above amount was obtained from 1,084 tons of gold bearing sands.

« WHAT IS NEW ENGLAND » U. S. A.

In the Near East one often hears the inquiry: «What is 'New England'?»

An answer to such questioners is given below.

New England is the northeastern corner of the United States of America. The territory so called covers an area of sixty-six thousand square miles, equal roughly to four-fifths of England and Scotland, and comprising the following six states: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. The first three states, comprising the northern section, are largely agricultural, and they form a tourist center in both summer and winter. The latter three states form the southern section and are primarily manufacturing states. The whole of New England is favored with a temperate, though changeable, climate, which has the effect of making the people active and vigorous.

The population numbers seven and a half million. The people are of a high average of intelligence with a large degree of consumptive demand.

Although New England occupies but two per cent of the total area of the United States, it produces eleven per cent of the total manufactured goods. A great diversity of articles is produced, every manufacture of importance being found. These products are known all over the world for being of high grade and made by skilled labor. The seven most important industries in New England are as follows:

		Percentage of
Industry	Typical Annual	Total U.S.
	Production	Production
Cotton Manufactures	$ 1,034,754,574	48 %
Woolen Manufactures	719.329.989	59 %
Shoes	560,000,000	50 %
Paper and Pulp	246,704,000	30 %
Brass and Copper Products	190,000,000	38 %
Textile Machinery	90,476,000	75 %
Rubber Products	66,759,000	50 %

The center of the whole manufacturing area of New England is found in Metropolitan Boston, which has a population of 1,756,965. In this section alone over a billion dollars' worth of manufactured goods are produced annually. Boston has the largest Chamber of Commerce in the world with a membership of over eight thousand. The total bank deposits and savings amount to $1,794,686,000 or $1,050 per capita. Boston is the largest wool market in the world and also a very large leather market.

Other cities of importance in New England, all within three or so hours train ride from Boston, include, in Massachusetts: Brockton, Fall River, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn, New Bedford, Springfield and Worcester; in New Hampshire, Concord, Manchester and Nashua; in Connecticut, Hartford, New Haven and New London; in Rhode Island, Pawtucket, Providence and Woonsocket; and in Maine, Portland.

The following banks in Boston have foreign trade connections:

On the Atlantic seaboard Boston is second only to New York City in the value of its import trade. Its exports though smaller are composed of high-grade materials, widely sought after in the markets of the world.

Boston has the advantage of one of the finest harbors on the Atlantic seabord, covering an area of thirty thousand acres with a linear water front of one hundred forty-one miles. Its wharves are able to accommodate the largest steamers and contain the most up-to-date methods for transhipment. The piers have direct rail connections and convenient warehouse storage space, totalling sixty-five million cubic feet. In Boston are located the largest fish pier in the world, a navy yard, one of the largest dry docks in the world, and a modern air port. The city is the terminus of several trans-Atlantic lines, and also of the United Fruit Company's lines to Central America.

Boston, as one of the oldest cities in the United States, has many points of historic interest to visitors.

The garden and park systems of Metropolitan Boston are unexcelled by and city in the country.

Harvard University, and seven other major colleges, as well as many smaller ones, are located in or near the city.

By informing the Boston Chamber of Commerce of an intended visit to the city, interviews will be arranged with manufacturers of those products in which the visitor is interested. A Directory of the Larger New England Manufacturers may be obtained upon application to the Boston Chamber of Commerce, 80 Federal Street, Boston, Massachusetts.

Messrs J. C. Houghton and Co., of Liverpool, in their annual report state:—

«Currants.-A review of the past season's trade suggests the thought that perhaps too much stress has been laid on the fluctuations of the Greek exchange as the chief contributary cause of the disappointment so generally felt with the results of the past four months' working. Economic conditions have perhaps been overlooked to some extent as a prime factor in the unsatisfactory situation, and it has been extremely difficult for anybody to see far enough into the future to justify any other policy than that of buying from hand to mouth. Prices were not too high, but the outlook was most uncertain, and the conviction was ever present that values might decline at any moment.

In the early days of November a certain nervousness was apparent, but the action of the Greek Government in introducing a scheme to purchase the surplus of the crop on a sterling basis instead of in Greek currency produced a beneficial effect stabilising prices. December followed on lines similar to those of previous months. Closing quotations: - Pyrgos and Amalias 31s. to 33s., Patras 34s. to 36s., Zante 32s. to 35s., Gulf and Panariti 34s. to 40s., Vostizza 40s. to 60s.

Sultanas.—Stocks were practically exhausted upon the arrival of the new crop. Owing to the drought, estimates of the 1925 crop were given as 25,000 tons, against 52,000 tons last season, and the high prices ruling in Smyrna, 68s. to 8os. c.i.f., presaged a season of high figures. The high range of prices at the opening checked consumpton, fair to good selling at 68s. to 75s. A good deal of pressure was felt during the early part of November, attributable to the existence of lower values in the producing district, but immediately reports were received of advancing markets in Smyrna, a change for the better quickly developed here. The year closes with a firm tone, and more interest taken in the article.

Cretans.—The scarcity of fine Smyrna fruit had a stimulating effect on these, and business was done on a forward basis at 82s. c.i.f. During October prices were from 75s. to 90s. while November saw a lower range of values, due to anxiety on the part of sellers to unload. At the reduced figures a fair trade passed at 6s. to 72s. for medium, 75s. to 80s. for good, and up to 86s. for fine.

«Greeks. - Opened at 80s. to 83s., fine bleached 100s, but holders were unable to maintain these values in face of pressure, and concessions had to be submitted to, medium qualities selling at 70s. to 75s., best bleached 95s. to 97s. 6d. As the season progressed prices gave way further and medium qualities sold at 68s to 70s., fine bleached 90s. 92s. 6d.

*Figs.—Bags—Some business was put through for new crop genuine natural. September shipment, at 24s. to 27s c.i.f. Prices held their own nearly all the season, although during October a slightly lower range of values was accepted, i. e. 75s. to 97s. 6d. for large boxes, 85s. to 105s. for small boxes, 115s. to 130s. for Locoums. Bags, in short supply, advanced in price, selling at 38s. to 40s. for good average and 43s to 45s. for genuine.

The World Court

By a declaration adopted at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in 1922, the Chamber was committed by its membership to American adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice upon the basis recommended by President Harding and Secretary Hugues and since advocated by President Coolidge. This declaration was reiterated at subsequent annual meetings in 1923, 1924 and 1925.

Since that time in every appropriate way the Chamber has urged acceptance of this policy by the United States Senate. In 1923 and again in 1924 it laid its position clearly before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and asked for the co-operation of its organization members, which was received in a generous degree.

During the past year the Chamber has pressed its campaign with special vigor. In March a letter was sent to all members of the Senate urging favorable action and the declaration adopted at the Thirteenth Annual Meeting in May was very shortly sent to all members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations and the Secretary of State was also informed of the Chamber's actions. In October a special bulletin on the World Court was sent to the entire membership who were asked actively to urge their senators to take favorable actions. This was followed by a special appeal in the form of a letter to secretaries of all member organizations sent on December I urging that these organizations continue their efforts in behalf of the Court and set up local committees to function in the matter. Further, in view of the fact that the resolution was scheduled to come before the Senate on December 17, letters were sent to all members of the Senate on December 14 urging action in this session of Congress. Throughout these efforts of the National Chamber to secure favorable action the Chamber has had a very large degree of support from its organization members.

The 1926 National Foreign Trade Convention in Charleston, S. C.

"This is the period which bids fair to see the restoration of international trade to the volume it held before the outbreak of the World War," declared James A. Farrell, Chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, in his call to the 1926 National Foreign Trade Convention to be held at Charleston, S.C., April 28, 29, 30.

According to the estimates of the Council, the World's export trade for the current year will exceed $28,000,000,000, thus equalling in volume, accounting for the decreased real value of money, the export trade of $19,322,000,000, done in 1913, the last year before the Great War.

The program of the Charleston convention lays special emphasis on accelerating American exports. general and group sessions planned to promote intensive attention to foreign trade in southern products, and especially to exports originating in the southeast where foreign trade in recent years has been increasing more rapidly than in any other part of the country. An outstanding example foreign trade of Charleston, which has increased from $20,500,000 to $43,500ooo between 1922 and 1925, a growth of 110 per cent in three years. Charleston and Savannah are also today the two largest shipping points of the world in the key industry of fertilizer products. From Norfolk to Miami, the South Atlantic ports are increasing their business in foreign trade tonnage by more than twenty per cent per year.

Behind these strides in foreign commerce is the industrialization of the New South, represented in the comparison which showed the surprising total last year of roughly 17,000,000 active spindles in southern cotton mills beside 16,000,000 in the North; where in 1900 there were only 4,000,000 spindles in the South, beside 14,400,000 in the North. Cotton consumption in southern manufacturing has correspondingly increased twenty-fold since the Civil War, from 200,000 bales in 1860 to 4,000,000 bales in 1925, so that today onequarter of the cotton grown in the South is manufactured virtually in sight of the cotton fields.

The American Manufacturer Export
Association, the National Association of Credit Men, the Export Managers Club of New York, and national banking, advertising and importing organizations will co-operate the National Foreign Trade Council in the convention, and group sessions will cover all these phases of foreign trade, as well as export problems of the Southeast, education for foreign trade and modern policies in export salesmanship.

Out of 1,500 delegates to the National Foreign Trade Convention last year at Seattle about 1,075 delegates were presidents and other executives of firms, representing most of the important business houses of thirty-two states actively engaged in foreign trade.

H. Michaelyan, Inc.

It was only eighteen years ago that Mr. Michaelyan, rug merchant, started out for himself in New York City. He conducted his business from a desk room for which he paid $5 a week.

Between a desk room and a Spanish Gallery in Palm Beach, to say nothing of the large, busy show room in New York, the road has been short, but not an easy one to traverse.

Eighteen years ago [he had] no rugs to sell because he did not own any. He received commissions from prospective customers to find the proper rug for them in the required size and colors. He advised people as to the proper valuation and other qualities of the rugs they were purchasing. Many availed themselves of his services, but orders were few and far between. Those were days of much disappointment and heartache.

To find his clients Mr. Michaelyan walked up and down the New York streets day in and day out, long after the closing hours. He listed all the new residences and the alterations and the building of the new apartment houses, and systematically canvassed the various owners to solicit their patronage.

People were difficult to reach, hard to interest, slow to be convinced. Oriental rugs were not so popular then as they are now. From those early days, however, Mr. Michaelyan has had the good fortune to enjoy the confidence and the patronage of such well-known men as Alvin W. Krech, Willard V. King, James B. Clews and Benjamin N. Duke.

As he saved a few dollars Mr. Michaelyan invested them in rugs In this way he laid the foundation for the large and varied stock, which one sees at his present show rooms at 2 West 47th Street, New York. As his stock grew he felt the need of a show room uptown. The turning point of his business came when he rented a large second floor next to Fifth Avenue, at a rental per year equal to his entire capital. It was a bold step to take, but he had faith in himself and his methods. He persuaded the landlord to agree to take a commission on his sales in lieu of a regular rental.

The landlord had many misgivings before all his rent was collected for the first year.

Day by day customers and friends (which seem to be synonymous in Mr. Michaelyan's business) multiplied. The area of his operations enlarged and the scope of his activities increased. A Wholesale Department was added. Later on an Antique Tapestry section was started. Still later a Chenille and Carpet Department was put in with a wider appeal to a more varied and select clientele. Today in every city in the Union, wherever a first-class decorator operates, the name Michaelyan is well known.

Trans-Persian Railway Survey

The bill for construction of a new railway in Persia has been sent to the National Assembly, having been revised and approved by the American Finance Administrator, Arthur Millspaugh. It is expected to be passed after one reading.

Four American engineers are to be engaged to survey the route of the proposed line, connecting the Persian Gulf with the Caspian Sea, and to estimate the cost of the work. Bids on the project will be open for foreign competition and it is believed that the chief fight will be between the English syndicate which surveyed the line some years ago and American companies.

The Ministry of Roads also has asked the National Assembly for permission to engage seven Americans to administer trade routes, and one agricultural professor.

World's Olive Area

Announcement that modern methods for the production of olive oil have been introduced in Palestine, in the area designated as the birth-place of the olive, lends interest to some figures prepared by the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York which show that American importations of olive oil have aggregated approximately $200,000,000 in value since the beginning of 1900.

The United States has for a long time been a large importer of this requirement of daily life and with the growth in importation and the establishment of the "habit," the annual value of olive oil imported has advanced from half a million dollars in 1880 $1,000,000 in 1900, $6,000,000 in 1910, $11,000,000 in 1916 and $17,000,000 in the fiscal year 1925.

Where does it come from this $200,000,000 worth of a single article of food brought into the United States in such a limited time and running now at the rate of $17,000-000 a year? Chiefly, of course, from the Mediterranean countries, for the area fronting upon the Mediterranean is authoritatively designated as the "birth-place of the olive," where it has been prized as a food-plant for many years, so highly prized and cared for that in certain instances trees known to be over 1,000 years of age are still in existence. The birthplace of the olive is designated by authorities upon this subject as the eastern end of the Mediterranean and the introduction of modern methods into Palestine gives promise of an enlargement of the area producing this important foot-plant.

modern method The consists chiefly in the use of electrically operated machinery for grinding the olives (not including the stones), the oil being obtained from the crushed pulp through pressure applied by modern and electrically operated machinery, and a new building for this purpose at Haifa, the seaport of Palestine, offers a market for such quantities of olives as the people of that area may choose to gather from the forests of olive trees which have no claimants and from which the peasants gather the olives at will. Very recently, however, the new element occupying and developing the eastern end of the Mediterranean has purchased large areas of the land in which these olive forests exist and are expecting to add materially to the supply of olives and olive oil.

MARKET REPORT of the IONIAN BANK, LIMITED

Constantinople Branch, for January, 1926.

Sterling Rates

Opening	January	2nd	908
Highest))	18th	934
Lowest	»	2nd	908
Closing	»	31st .	922

The market opened dull and devoid of business, but, turning firm as a result of large commercial purchases, continued to rise, although suffering slight reactions, and closed steady.

Flour and Wheat.

The local market was calm throughout the month, such small fluctuations as took place being due to the importance of arrivals from Anatolia.

Prices fell during the first week as a result of an accumulation of stocks, but rose again at the end of the month owing to a falling off in Anatolian arrivals.

The market continues to consume local wheat, the only arrival from North America for the whole month of January being a shipment of 200 tons Manitoba wheat received during the first week.

Local stocks are estimated at 70,000 bags (of 72 kgs). These comprise both wheat and ready flour.

Arrivals from 2nd January to 30th January, 1926:

From: Anatolia 5,687 tons, Thrace 1,361, Bulgaria 1,550, America 200; total 8,798 tons.

End of month prices per oke in bulk, duty paid: Anatolia 20-21 piastres, Anatolia, 2nd quality 17-18, Thrace 171/2-181/2, Bulgaria 201/2, Manitoba 22.

Locally Milled Flour Integral: LT. 15 per sack of 72 Kgs.

Ditto 2nd quality LT. 13.80 per sack of 72 Kgs.

Barley.

The situation of this market remains unchanged.

Large stocks are known to be lying in Anatolia, but as producers obtained high prices for their last year's crops (about 14 piastres per oke) they will not part with their barley at this year's prices of 9 to 10.50 piastres.

They hope for a rise and abstain from sending, but will shortly be compelled to liquidate their stocks to avoide deterioration and ultimate destruction from weevil.

Tea.

As a result of the decrease in the Indian output, Foreign markets are very firm, with prices still tending upwards.

Local prices do not appear to be guided by the markets at origin, which they underquote by 10%.

Business on our market is very bad owing to the tightness of money.

Stocks are fairly heavy.

Although the market is firm with an upward tendency, prices, owing to the local money shortage, are at least 5 % below those of Europe.

Textiles.

An increase in the Customs tariff from 24 to 36 piastres on Japanese and Chinese sheetings, which will come into force on the 20th of February, has had a very bad effect on the local market.

This increase will also apply to British Colonial produce, but America is unaffected.

There is a possibility that Britain and Japan may avoid this new tariff by the conclusion of Trade Treaties now in negotiation, but Chinese sheetings are looked upon as being definitely debarred.

Prices at Port Said for Japanese sheetings are at least 6d below origin, and on our market rule the same as those for forward buying from origin.

Stocks are down to 1500 bales, but, mainly owing to financial reasons, the market is not buying.

The Interior market is average, purchases being in small quantities.

American Sheetings:

Carpets.

Resultant upon the economical crisis and the increase in tariffs in Europe, the general situation of the market was dull, despite some fairly heavy purchases on the part of European and American buyers.

As the majority of merchants are expecting arrivals of important new shipments, they were anxious to liquidate their stocks, and sales were effected at prices advantageous to buyers.

The demand, which was general from all consuming markets, is reported to be due to a large number of hives having been destroyed by the floods in Europe.

The market is firm, with prices ruling from 197 to 200 piastres. (The latter price was realised on the Smyrna market).

Sales totalled about 10 tons.

Hazel Nuts.

Prices dropped from 90.94 to 65.69 piasters per oke, consigned stocks in consuming centers being unsold. The failure of two of the leading firms helped what developed into a panic.

Sales have been kept very quiet, and are impossible to detail.
